The farce-comedy of "Two Married Men" attracted a good-sized audience at the Grand, on Tuesday night.

A curious fact has just come to light in regard to "A Capitol Comedy," which Mr. Tim Murphy is playing with so much success. The author is Paul Wilstach, and a cousin of his father's, that is, Mr. Wilstach's second cousin, Usomas Ustic Walter's, was the architect of the dome and two wings of the United States Capitol as they stand to-day and as they are pictured in the scenes of "A Capitol Comedy." Mr. Murphy will play an engagement in this city soon.

THE LADY OF POPPIES Dear Lady of Poppies, take my hand. And lead me down to the Opal Sea, Where solls a boat on the languid tide-The lifting, liiting, loitering tide— Waiting for thee and me.

Dear Lady of Poppies, loose the sail, Our course to the purple West is set, And we are off for the beautiful isle— The dreamy, mystical, marvelous isle— Where the sorrowful go to forget.

Dear Lady of Poppies, the wind is fair, The beryl water is cool and deep, And this boat that silverly rises and falls— That rocks and trembles and lifts and falls-Surely its name is Sleep!

And far away, through the purple mist, The pearly shore of an island gleams, Of an island kissed by the lips of the sea-By the cool, wet, pleading lips of the sea— The mystical Island of Dreams.

"Three times were bodies of soldiery sent against her, and three times was she victorious. The last was a final effort. Before, it had been customary to despise this adventuress who had sprung up so suddenly. But then the priests began to realize their peril, to see that the throne itself was in danger, and to know that if she were to be crushed they would have to put forth their utmost. Every man who could carry arms was pressed into the service. Every known art of war was ordered to be put into employment. It was the largest army, and the best equipped army that Atlantis then had ever raised. and the Priestly clan saw fit to put in supreme command their general, Ta-

The king we had known so long, was ailing and wearily old; he was so wrapped up in the study of mysteries, and the joy of closely knowing them, that earthly matters had grown nauseous to him; and at any time he might decide to die. The Priestly clan uses its own discretion in the election of a new king, but it takes note of popular sentiment; and a general who at the critical time could come home victorious from a great campaign, which moreover would release a harassed people from the constant application of arms, would be the idol of the moment. A New York Farmer Sells His Bride of One Short Year to His Brother.

Edward Chilton, of Herman, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., who was married less than a year ago to Mamie Cramer, has traded off his wife for an interest in a threshing machine and other chattels, with some cash to boot.

After the marriage Mr. and Mrs. Chilton lived in the village until this fall, when they moved on one of the farms owned by George Babbitt. Harry Chilton, a brother of the husband, went to work on the farm and worked until Tuesday. Then the brothers settled accounts. Harry paid Ed some money, and personal effects which could not be easily moved, such as an interest in a threshing machine and some wagons. In return for these Harry took Ed's Finds Care for Lockjaw.

Dr. A. Leteve, of the pathological department of Mercy hospital at Pittsourg, has discovered what has every indication of being a successful serum treatment for tetanus or lockjaw. After a year of experimenting on lower animals the doctor tested his theory on three human subjects, a middleaged man, a middle-aged woman and a boy ten years of age. According to his statement, these patients when first given the injections of the serum were violent, being in spasms and convulsions. The treatment soon quieted them and within five or six days they were restored to their former health.

Story of a Worth-less Fellow D D D

By JOHN H. RAFTERY.

TF THERE are any sufficient reasons why a married man should go into the army, Louis Tappan had them. His five years of married life had been a cumulative failure and he knew it. What was more important, however, his young wife knew and charged the whole score of their mutual disappointment to him. Their one child, now a teething baby, had not healed their chafed spirits nor brought together their wandering hearts. Mrs. Tappan was a good little woman, so good that she neither sympathized with nor understood Louis' puerile, ways, his passions for excitement, his slavery to habits that were neither necessary to her happiness nor warranted by his slender means, even in the days when he earned a good salary then: as bookkeeper for the Buena Vista bank.

Her father owned the little town where they lived, but he was one of those stern men who, having made their own way in the world, would discourage and resent the idea that they should give aid to others in the fight for independence or wealth. When Louis married Lucy Harding he admitted to himself that the old bank president was "a grouch," but in those days his self-confidence was not shaken by the prospect of working out a way for guess I won't go up; I-what did you himself and Lucy. For a year he car- say her first name was, Lucy?" ried out his good resolutions, and even won a measure of Mr. Harding's crabbed regard. During that year the Harding, down to Buena Vista, richer'n young people were fairly happy. The entering wedge of misery came when it dawned on Lucy that Louis didn't have any religion and couldn't "get" any. When he heard that she "had him prayed for" he lost his temper and they had their first quarrel.

After that his descent was rapid. They drifted further and further apart. The boy (he was only 23) lost his grip on good resolves and slid along the smooth and winsome current of his old, free habits. The row with Harding didn't come till the second year, but after that Louis' place in his father-in-law's bank became precarious. The old man warned, threatened and even persecuted him in the mistaken belief that he could scare the young husband back into the narrow path. But Louis didn't scare worth a cent. Long before the baby came he was in debt, neck and crop. His wife was getting morose and quarrelsome, and his creditors were beginning to talk about "going to the old man." Even that didn't move the rascal. He began to think that he was the martyr of an unhappy marriage, that Lucy didn't understand him and that her father was determined to break up a union that he had never approved. When a man gets to coddling himself with such assurances he's in a bad way. And Louis was in a bad way even before the grocer, who was a deacon in Harding's church, made what Louis called "a holler" about his bill.

That settled the young man with Papa Harding. A month's notice, a threat of starvation and a mumbled imprecation were what the bookkeeper got with his next pay envelope. After he was out of his position he made a few feeble efforts to find work; he made a trip to Chicago, and in a weak way determined to take his wife and make a home for himself elsewhere. But somehow the world seemed to have suddenly grown very narrow and selfish. His comrades of dissipated days and nights couldn't help him further than to "hope the old man will come round all right," and buy another drink. Harding didn't come round. He ignored his son-in-law when they met on the street, and only when the child was born did he insist on taking charge of Lucy. After she was taken to the Harding home Louis' heart began to fail him. He discovered that he was fond and apt to grow fonder of the child-a boy. ing home a stern and famous officercaptain at least-crowded his boyish mind, and with his hopes there mingled, stinging sweet, the sense that at last he might have brought home to Lucy and her people a realization of the fact that he was not all bad. He even imagined the old "grouch" pitying him, and in the thought was the grim satisfaction that now at least he had martyred himself. He swore softly to himself that he would never drink nor gamble again, and when he left for Chickamanga with his regiment he had not fallen from grace. A scribbled note on a postal card telling Lucy that he was "gone into the army" was all they heard about him at Buena Vista for three years after that. The Hardings read all the war news with eager curiosity at first, hoping to get some news of Louis, but their interest waned again and again, to be faintly renewed with the actual beginning of the fight. But there was not a word about Louis, not even his name among the wounded, sick or dead, much less notice of his gallantry or promotion. Not until the Cuban and earlier Philippine campaigns had a vindled down into intermittent skirmishes in far parts of the islands did there come a hint that he was yet on earth. Then just a line in the list of "dead fron dis-

"Yes, sir." "Do you know where Mrs. Tappan, Mrs. Louis Tappan, lives?"

"Don't live here, leastways not in town. I know 'em all. No Tappans and nothing like that name round here. I'm pretty sure."

"Moved here from Buena Viata," suggested the stranger, wistfully; "moved up about a year ago."

"Oh, hold on! Tappan-oh, her name ain't Tappan no more. She's married to Bill Chesebrough. They was married at Buena Vista a year ago, and come up here to live. Sure I-

New Seasickness Remedy.

Prof. Heinz, of the University of Erlangen, claims to have discovered an infallible and very simple antidote against seasickness. "Draw a ong and vigorous breath at frequent intervals," he says, "and you will never suffer from this malady." The reason, he explains, is because the initial cause of seasickness is to be found in a lobe of the brain, the sensitiveness of which reacts on the stomach, and that when fresh air is breathed at frequent intervals the blood becomes charged with oxygen and thus the offending lobe loses its sensitiveness He adds that he has made several experiments on himself for the purpose of proving the efficacy of this novel remedy, and has also completely cured several persons who used to be seasick whenever they went on the water. Finally, he points out that the antidote costs nothing and can be tested by anyone.

Dr Roberts began the practic of medicine in this county about fifteen years ago and up to the time of his departure for Europe to perfect himself in his profession, his practice increased year by year until it was necessary for him to take in a partner. His success both professionally and financially was due to the fact that he was not only an eminent physician but a Christian gentleman, having been an officer in the Christian Church for several years and only resigns his place in the church to make his home elsewhere. It is with regret that the people of Paris and Bourbon county give this family up, but with much pride do we speak of them as belonging to us.

The Venezuelan Insurgents About to Attack Carupano.

It is Reported That the Rebel Vessel, Libertador, Has Captured the Gunboat Zumbador, of the Venezuelan Navy.

Willemstad, Island of Curacao, Jan. 7.—(Via Haytien Cable.)—Shortly before midnight Sunday night a steamer, believed to be the Venezuelan revolutionary steamer Libertador, passed several times before this post, signaling to people ashore. Answering signals appeared to have been received from the shore, and it is asserted that the last members of the revolutionary expeditions who had assembled on this island, embarked on board the Libertador and should have been landed early Monday morning on the Venezuelan coast, near Vela de Coro.

Later in the day it became definitely known that Gen. Riera, the Veuezuelan insurgent leader, and all the other insurgents who had assembled here, embarked on board the Libertador during the night and landed on Venezuelan soil Monday morning near Vele de Coro, with arms and ammunition.

It was reported here Monday that the Libertador has captured the Venezuelan gunboat Zumbador. The gunboat Zumbador of the Venezuelan navy was originally a tug named Agos-

THE OLD LIBERTY BELL.

The Relic on Its Way to the Charleston Exposition.

Philadelphia, Jan. 7.-The old liberty bell, accompanied by Mayor Ashbridge and an official escort of city councilmen and city department heads, started on its journey to the Charleston exposition at 8 o'clock Monday morning. As the special train left the Pennsylvania railroad station a salute of 21 guns was fired at the League Island navy yard. The bell is scheduled to arrive at Charleston at 10 o'clock next Thursday morning.

Hagerstown, Md., Jan. 7.-The old liberty bell was given a hearty welcome by the mayor, city officials and nearly the entire population Monday. Two thousand school children sang "America" and other patriotic songs as the train rolled into the depot.

INVITED TO CHARLESTON.

Daughters of the American Revolution Will Visit the Charleston Fair.

Charleston, S. C., Jan. 7.-The South Carolina Daughters of the American Revolution, through Mrs. W. H. Fights Between American Sailors and Russian Soldiers in China.

Peking, Jan. 9.—While the actual casualties during the fighting at New-Chwang between American sailors belonging to the United States gunboat Vicksburg, which is wintering there, and Russian soldiers attached to the garrison of that port are trifling up to date, the matter has resulted in unpleasantly strained relations between the American, Russian and British authorities there. The Washington and St. Petersburg governments are now endeavoring to arrange matters so that there may be no further friction.

Fights occurred whenever American or British sailors met Russian soldiers, and the latter, not being accustomed to fist fights, were usually badly worst ed. This condition of affairs culmiserious affray and the Russian minister here, M. Paul Lessar, complained to Minister Conger that two members of the Vicksburg's crew had fired a revolver at an offending Russian soldier. wounding him in the arm.

Relations between the American and British consuls and naval commanders and the Russian administrator at New-Chwang are strained, which makes a friendly settlement of the affair difficult.

The administrator attempted to enforce social code which the foreign officials refused to recognize, and, consequently, their relations have been limited to strictly official interviews. and these have not been amiable.

The memorandum presented by the Russian minister to the United States minister here related to various alleged assaults committed by Americans. On one occasion, it was asserted, three sailors attacked a sentry, and owed their lives to the sentry's forbearance in not exercising his right to shoot.

The administrator demanded that the United States consul try the offenders, but the commander of the Vicksburg wrote a curt refusal.

Minister Conger is endeavoring to restore friendly relations at New-Chwang. He is urging the United States consul there, Henry B. Miller, to co-operate with the Russian authorities in suppressing and punishing violence. The steps taken are, however, seriously handicapped by the action of the Russians, who refuse to allow foreigners to use the telegraph line.

RETURNED TO PEKING

Entrance of Chinese Court an Exhibition of Oriental Splendor.

A Sharp Contrast to the Old Regime When Neither Diplomats Nor Natives Were Permitted to View Passing Royalty.

Peking, Jan. 8.—The re-entrance of the Chinese emperor into Peking Tuesday was the most remarkable episode in the annals of the dynasty, save the flight of the Chinese court when Peking was bombarded by the allied forces.

The spectacular phases of the return of the court exceeded expectations. The cortege was a sort of glorified lord mayor's show, and was a be wildering barbaric exhibition of Oriental tinselled splendor. Its chief significance was the complete effacement of the traditional deification of Chinese royalty. Foreigners were given greater facilities of witnessing the ceremonial than would have been afforded them at most European courts. The scene at the Chien gate when the emperor and the dowager empress entered the temple to offer thanks for their safe journey, was nothing less than revolutionary when viewed in the light of all Chinese customs. The horseshoe wall, forming the ancient gate, was crowded with Europeans, diplomats, army omcers, missionaries, ladies, photographers and correspondents. When the emperor and the dowager empress arrived at the temple, tne procession halted and their majesties alighted from their chairs, which were covered with imperial yellow silk and lined with sables. The emperor proceeded to the temple of the God of War, on the west side of the plaza, with hundreds of foreigners peering down only 40 feet above him, and dozens of cameras were focused upon the Son of Heaven. When he returned, his chair was borne through the gate.

Then the chair of the dowager empress was brought to the door way of the temple of the Goddess of Mercy, on the east side of the plaza, and the dowager empress appeared. Amid a great scuffling of attendants she proceeded into the temple on the arms of two officials, followed by a company of Buddhist priests, bearing offerings. The spectators then heard the booming of the temple bell. After an interval of five minutes, the dowager empress reappeared. Standing in the doorway of the temple she looked upward. Directly overhead were the German minister, Dr. Mumm von Schwartzenstein, the secretaries of the German legation, the officers and ladies from the American garrison and correspondents. The dowager empress saw the foreigners and bowed low. She advanced a few steps and bowed again in acknowledgment of the salutations of the foreigners. She returned to her chair looking unward to the semi-circle of foreign faces, and bowing repeatedly.

In the meantime the Chinese soldiers, Manchu bannermen and minor officials who had crowded the plaza, were reverently kneeling. The two arches at the sides of the ancient gateway framed hundreds of faces of Chinese coolies, who, emboldened by the presence of foreigners, ventured to gaze upon their rulers. This incident constituted a most sharp contrast to the old regime, when neither diplomats nor natives were permitted to view the passage of royal personages along the streets.

The expression of the dowager empress seemed almost appealing as she faced those who had hunbled her and brought her down from her former arrogance, and this confirmed the impression that she is returning to Peking with anxiety for her safety.

Daughter of Senator Foraker Married to Francis King Wainright.

Washington, Jan. 9.-The marriage ceremony which united Miss Julia Foraker, daughter of the senior senator of Ohio, with Francis King Wainright, of Philadelphia, was performed in the handsome residence of Senator Foraker, on Sixteenth street, by Rev. Dr. Mackay Smith, of St. John's Episcopal church, and was witnessed by only a small company of friends and relatives. Five hundred guests attended the reception following the wedding.

The large white and gold ballroom of the Foraker mansion was lavishly decorated in Easter lilies and tropical plants and trees.

The bride, on the arm of her father, entered and was received by the groom. Mr. Clement Wainright acted as best man. Miss Foraker wore a bridal costume of ivory white, with point lace yoke and sleeves, and a tulle veil caught with a spray of orange blossoms.

The ceremony was in accordance with the full Episcopal ritual. After the marriage a breakfast for 20 of the intimate friends of the bride and groom was served in the yellow room. The draperies were in gold, and the floral effects were carried out with yellow and white orchids.

Bouquets of violets for the ladies and boutonnierres for the men were at each plate. At the buffet luncheon served to the guests at the reception in the dining room the decorations and furnishings were in green and red. Wreaths of holly and long streamers of red silk ribbon were tastefully arranged about the apartment.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainright, after a bridal trip, will reside at Bryn Mawr, Philadelphia, where the former is erecting a residence. Senator Foral ahead. ker presented his daughter with a diamond crescent, in addition to which about 400 gifts have been received by the couple.

The groom is a son of Joseph Reeves Wainright, president of the Pennsylvania Chemical Co., of Philadelphia, and a Princeton '99 graduate.

HIS TERRIBLE FATE.

Skeleton of a Recluse Found in the Desert Near Fillmore, Utah.

Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 9.- A skele ton scattered and gnawed by coyotes and half buried in the sand was found Wednesday several miles out in the crater-like desert near Fillmore, in the southern part of the state. In the rags which once formed the clothing of the man were discovered $175 and papers which identified the skeleton as that of Nicholas Paul, an aged recluse who formerly lived at Fillmore, and who disappeared about a year ago.

QUARRYMEN KILLED.

Three Met Death By the Explosion of a Big Charge of Dynamite.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 9.—The explosion of a big charge of dynamite brought death and destruction to Bluestone quarries in the mountains, a mile from here, Wednesday evening. Three Italian quarrymen were killed and buried deep in the great avalanche of earth that followed the explosion Another man was hurled 150 feet through the air, down the steep cliff of the quarry. He still lives.

CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH.

The House Caught Fire During the Parents' Absence.

Franklin, Pa., Jan. 9.—Two small children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mc Kim were burned to death and the house destroyed by fire near Coal City ten miles south of this city. The mother of the children had gone to visit a neighbor and in her absence the house caught fire. Five years ago the McKim house was destroyed by fire and three of their children were burned to death.

Fifteen People Killed and About Thirty Injured.

John Wisch, Engineer of One of the Trains, Is Blamed For the Terrible Accident and Has Been Placed Under Arrest.

New York, Jan. 9 .- In the New York Central railroad tunnel that burrows under Park avenue, this city, two local trains collided Wednesday. Fifteen passengers were killed and twice that number were injured. A dozen of the latter were seriously hurt, and the roster of the dead may be ex-

It was a rear-end collision between a South Norwalk local and was halted by block signals at the southern entrance of the tunnel and a White Plains local that came by the Harlam branch of the New York Central. The wreck occurred at 8:17 a. m., at which hour the train was crowded by suburbanites. Most of the death, injury and damage was wrought by the engine of the White Plains train, which plunged into the rear car of the motionless train, and was driven through to the middle of the car, smashing the seats and furnishings and splitting the sides as it moved forward. The victims either were mangled in the mass of wreckage carried at pilot, crushed in the space between boiler and car sides. or scalded by steam which came hissing from broken pipes and cylinders. The engine in its final plunge of 40 feet carried the rear car forward and sent the twisted irons, broken timbers and splinters crashing into the coach

Ladders were run down the tunnel air shafts and the firemen and police attacked the debris with ropes and axes. Passengers already had rallied and were trying to release those imprisoned in the debris. Father Smith and Rev. Dr. Walkley, chaplains of the fire department, crawled in over the wreckage and ministered to the dying. Lieut. Clark, of the fire department. forced his way to the point where two ladies, Miss Rice and Miss Scott, lay, and stood in water that scalded the flesh from his limbs until the women were released. T. M. Murphy, a passenger, both of whose legs were broken and still held by the timbers, volunteered to remain as he was until those around him were assisted.

Two policemen and Chaplain Walkley reached Mrs. A. F. Howard, and the chaplain gave her a stimulant. The policemen were cutting away the seat which held the woman down when a pipe broke. The scalding steam drove them back and when the rescuers returned Mrs. Howard was dead. Responsibility for the disaster is uncover John Wisch, engineer of the White Plains train, is to blame. It is declared that when the South Norwalk train stopped a flagman ran back into the tunnel, and, besides placing a torpedo on the track, endeavored to flag the on-coming train. The tunnel was beclouded with steam and smoke, while the snow, which fell through the air shafts, tended to obscure the view. Engineer Wisch and Fireman Christopher Flynn were arrested. A signal man also was detained for a time but was released.

REAR END COLLISION.

Six Persons Were Scriously Injured Near Shinnstown, W. Va.

Fairmont, W. Va., Jan. 9.-A rear the Monongahela division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, near Shinnstown, resulted in the serious injury of six persons and wrecking of two engines and a mail and baggage car. A!! of the injured were taken to the Clarksburg hospital. An open switch was the cause of the accident, it being left open after a freight had sidetracked for the passenger, which came along at a high speed and crashed into the freight with the above result.

FIFTY-SEVENTH GONGRESS.

Washington, Jan. 7 .- Senate-The senate met Monday after a recess of more than two weeks, but no business was transacted owing to the recent death of Senator William J. Sewell (N. J.). In his invocation at the opening of the session, the chaplain, Rev. William Milburn, made touching reference to the death of Senator Sewell. He referred also to the disability of Senator Berry (Ark.) and prayed that he might be able to soon attend to his duty in the senate. Mr. Keane (N. J.) formally announced the death of Mr. Sewell and offered the customary resolutions expressive of the sorrow of the senate and providing for an immediate adjournment in respect to his memory. As a mark of respect to his his memory the senate adjourned at 12:07 p. m., immediately upon the adoption of the resolutions.

House—The house transacted no business Monday. Immediately after it met Mr. Loudenslager (N. J.) announced the death of Senator Sewell, and after the adoption of the customary resolutions, the house, as a further mark of respect, adjourned until Tuesday. A bill to re-establish the army canteen was introduced by Representative Kern (III.).

Washington, Jan. 8 .- Senate-The first notes of the contest between the Nicaragua and Panama routes for the isthmian canal were heard Tuesday. Mr. Morgan offered and secured the adoption of a resolution which indicated his purpose to have the committee on inter-oceanic canals inquire into the relations alleged to exist between the trans-continental railroad companies of the United States and Canala and the Panama Canal Co. Among the bills introduced were: Providing for erection of a post office building in New York, and appropriating $2, 500,000 towards this purpose; requiring that contractors carrying the mails of the United States shall be able to read the English language; increasing pension ratings received while in the line of duty; authorizing the carrying of sealed packages through the mails at the rate of one cent an ounce; appropriating $3,000,000 for the erection of a building to be located on Jackson place in the city of Washington and to be used jointly by the state department and the department of justice; for a memorial arch in honor of the late President McKinley.

House-The debate on the Nicaraguan bill in the house was opened in lively fashion Tuesday by Mr. Hepburn, chairman of the inter-state and foreign commerce commission, which reported the bill. Bills introduced Repealing all of the increase taxes under the war revenue act; to amend the war revenue act by striking out the stamp tax on bills of lading, manifests, etc.; permitting crude petroleum and other oils to be transported from one port to another of the United States in vessels other than those belonging to the United States.

Washington, Jan. 9.—During consideration of private pension legislation some important statements were made by Mr. Gallinger, chairman of the committee to govern it in consideration of private pension bills. He announced that none but absolutely meritorious cases would be presented to the senate for its consideration and fixed, but Superintendent Franklin said | that the closest scrutiny would be givthat so far as he had been able to dis- en by the committee to every bill introduced. He said that no pension vocading $50 a month would he rec ommended by the committee for the widow of a general officer, and that pensions for the widows of other officers would be scaled down proportionately.

House.-The debate on the Nicaraguan canal bill developed sentiment in favor of giving consideration to the recent offer of the Panama Co. to sell its franchises and property for $40,-000,000. The following bills were in troduced: For the payment of pensions monthly instead of quarterly, as at present; for an international board of engineers from Mexico and the United States to adopt plans for irrigating the Rio Grande valley; creating a fifth assistant postmaster general. It gives the new assistant charge of the free delivery system, rural and city, and fixed his salary at $4,000 annually; appropriating $17,000 for the end collision Wednesday evening on officers and men of the army who suffered loss in the Galveston cyclone in September, 1900.

SCHLEY'S APPEAL.

The President Will Consider a Reversal of Inquiry Court's Findings.

Washington, Jan. 8.—The object of Adm. Schley's visit to the white house Monday was to request the president to entertain and consider an appeal for the reversal of the action of Secretary Long and the disapproval of the majority judgment of the court of inquiry. The interview was satisfactory, the president granting the admiral's request. Messrs. Rayner and Teague Tuesday assisted Adm. Schlev in the preparation of the appeal.

ANOTHER SCHLEY MEASURE.

A Joint Resolution Provides for the Thanks of Congress.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Representative Hooker of Mississippi Tuesday introduced a joint resolution reciting that Commodore Schley was the senior officer in command at the battle of Santiago; that he was in absolute command at that battle and is "entitled to the credit due to such commanding officer for the glorious victory which resulted in the total destruction of the Spanish ships." The resolution provides for the thanks of congress to Adm. Schley and officers and mea at the democratic caucus held here under his command.

Gentlemen: — Being entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment, I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion.

About five years ago my right ear began to sing, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely.

I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever.

I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After I had used it only a few days according to your directions, the noises ceased, and to-day, after five weeks, my hearing in the diseased ear has been entirely restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain

Very truly yours,

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough.

The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Three sizes: 25c., 50c., $1. All druggists.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he tells you not to take it, then don't take it. He knows. Leave it with him. We are willing.
